From the Desk of Ralph Montaña

President, Desert Gold Diggers Inc.

Greetings Desert Gold Diggers! I hope everyone has had an opportunity to enjoy this cooler weather and get out to our claims to find that beautiful yellow stuff.

As we look forward to 2025, there are two crucial board positions that are vacant and need to be filled as soon as possible—DGD Vice President and the Claims Director. Both board positions are extremely important and would provide individuals the opportunity to make a difference in our club. If you are interested in getting more involved, please contact me or any of the other board members if you'd like more information about the responsibilities of either position.

Ralph Montaña, Desert Gold Diggers President

Meet the DGD Membership Director - Becky Marihugh

How'd y'all! My name is Becky Marihugh and I am the Membership Director of the club. I process all membership applications and renewals. In addition to being on the DGD board, I am also the Event Coordinator which means I set up, shop for, cook, and plan the overnight outings and the Christmas party.

When I'm not busy processing paperwork, or planning outings, my husband, Joe Marihugh, and I like to get out and dig that shiny stuff! You can usually find us on the Bruiser or Wishful claims on the weekends we are free.

I got into prospecting about 10 years ago. Joe and I joined Desert Gold Diggers shortly thereafter to gain access to the claims. We became active with the internal workings of the club back in 2020 and haven't looked back since!

Becky Marihugh
DGD Membership Director

Becky Marihugh, Prospector!

Here's a fun fact about Joe and me. I planned our wedding and he planned our honeymoon. I'll give y'all one guess where/what we did for our honeymoon—if you guessed gold mining at Roaring Camp in California you'd be absolutely correct! We had never been there before and didn't realize exactly what we were getting ourselves into therefore we were definitely unprepared for the "rustic" camping! We had an absolute blast and we even found some small honeymoon nuggets!

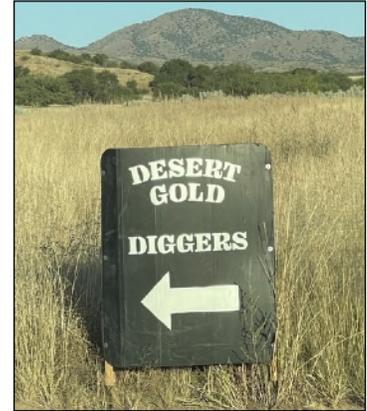

We love to travel and look for gold in new places. I love the adventure and the sights when we are out exploring and prospecting.

Well, enough about me— get out there and find that gold!!! Wishing you all heavy pans.....

—Becky Marihugh

October 4-6 Overnight Outing

The Desert Gold Diggers fall outing at the Gardner Canyon campsite was a great success. The weather was beautiful and over 50 members participated in the outing. Joe and Becky Marihugh arrived on Wednesday, October 2, to reserve the campsite and put up signs Thursday morning to provide direction to new members not familiar with the area. The majority of members arrived on Friday to set up their camping and prospecting equipment. As Dan Walker mentions in his outing report on page 9, Friday night was nice and the potluck dinner had a large variety of crock pot dishes including Texas chili, chicken and rice, pork chili, chicken tacos, spaghetti, Caesar salad, scalloped potatoes, dinner rolls, and garlic rolls. After dinner, campers sat around the campfire visiting and enjoying the cool evening air.

Coffee and breakfast snacks were available for members beginning at 7:00 AM Saturday morning. The detector hunt started at 8:00 AM and consisted of 50 buried nickel targets worth four gold nuggets, five $10 gift certificates, three $2 bills, and 38 $1 coins. The hunt was a success and all the targets were recovered. After the detector hunt, many members went to the Hope claims to prospect and work up an appetite before lunchtime.

Detector Hunt

Lunch was served at noon and consisted of hamburgers and hot dogs with potato chips and tossed salad. Cookies were available afterward for those that yearned for something sweet. Becky Marihugh did a great job “manning” the grill and Hank Bassaraba and Bob Burgette assisted Becky to help expedite the process of feeding hungry gold diggers.

After lunch, there was a drawing for gold nuggets, gift certificates, and other prizes. Many members went back to the claims after the raffle and stayed over Saturday night and left for home on Sunday.

Desert Gold Diggers would like to say THANK YOU to everyone that contributed by delivering and setting up equipment, preparing the food and amenities, and providing the needed support to make this such an enjoyable event. The overnight outings require a considerable amount of time, effort, and planning and without your support, these outings would not be possible.

Outing Director's Report: October Overnight Outing

Preparations for our October annual overnight outing started on Wednesday October 3rd with Becky Marihugh reserving our camping area, Joe Marihugh putting up signs on Thursday, and other board members putting up tables and other needed equipment.

Members started to arrive Friday to set up their camping and prospecting equipment. Friday Night was nice and the potluck dinner had a large variety of crock pot dishes including Texas chili, chicken and rice, pork chili, chicken tacos, spaghetti, Caesar salad, scalloped potatoes, dinner rolls, and garlic rolls. After dinner most of the campers sat around the campfire visiting and enjoying the cool evening air.

I arrived on Saturday morning around 6:30 AM the temperature was cool. The sign-in sheet was passed around for the nugget hunt which started at 8:00 AM. The 50 nickel targets were worth four gold nuggets, five $10 gift certificates, three $2 bills, and 38 $1 coins. All targets were found.

Lunch was served at noon and consisted of hamburgers and hot dogs with potato chips and tossed salad. After lunch, there was a drawing for gold nuggets, gift certificates, and other prizes.

Thanks to the board members the outing was a complete success.

Keep finding the yellow stuff.

Outing Director's Report: Pilgrim's Pride NOV 9

We met at mile post 7 on Arivaca Road at 8:00 AM Saturday, November 9th. We had 16 members present. We held our metal detector hunt prior to going to the claims. Joe planted the targets, since Becky and Joe camped out overnight, he planted 24 nickels 3 worth a gold nugget, 3 worth a $2 bill and 18 worth a dollar coin. All 24 targets were found.

After the hunt we went to the Pilgrims Pride claims and other adjacent claims to prospect. The area was totally dry and the gravels were best worked by dry washing, recirculating methods, and metal detecting.

We fanned out over the claims and were able to get some nice gold and everybody seemed to be having a good time. The weather was cool when we started, but warmed up later in the day and most members left around 3 PM and headed back to town.

The outing was a success and we look forward to our next outing at the Snoozin Claims on Sunday, December 8th . Thanks to all for their attendance and happy hunting until till next month.

—Dan Walker

An Interesting Fact about Gold

Did you know that a gold ring loses 6 mg from its surface every year? Although usually a symbol of endless love, gold rings actually lose 0.12 mg of its surface with each week of wearing it. Metal abrasion and friction causes a ring to “shed” and leave tiny particles on everything you touch.

Gold Price Fluctuations Explained

On Wednesday, October 30, gold hit an all time high of $2,805 per ounce. However, after ripping higher for much of 2024, the price of gold has suddenly become not so golden since the presidential election on November 5. What is going on? Part of the decline has coincided with the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against other major currencies and fewer interest rate cuts would mean Treasury bonds pay more in interest than previously expected—that in turn could hurt gold’s price. Gold, which pays its owners zero dividends or income, can look less attractive when bonds are paying more. Regardless, gold still has its reputation for offering a safer place for investors when things are shaky around the world. According to money managers at Robeco, which handles investments for big institutional investors, “Gold continues to be the safe haven asset class of choice for both investors and central banks.”

The Gregory School “Oregon Trail Adventure” Revisited

In September 2023, Desert Gold Diggers participated in the Oregon Trail Adventure sponsored by the Gregory School. This is an annual event at the school and is designed to educate the students about the things pioneers experienced as they crossed the prairie while heading west in the 1800s. The Gregory School faculty and students enjoyed the DGD panning demonstration so much in 2023, that the school requested that Desert Gold Diggers return again this year.

On Tuesday, October, 5, DGD members Ralph Montaña, Becky Marihugh, Joe Marihugh, David Fuller, Grady Dees, and Ray Darragh worked with 18 fifth-graders to share information on gold prospecting and to help each of the students pan for gold.

Ralph Montano began the presentation by sharing some interesting gold history with the students, discussing the different types of prospecting equipment used by the pioneers back in the late 1800s, and then demonstrating how to pan for gold. David Fuller then demonstrated the operation of a mechanical dry washer, explaining how prospectors find gold in the desert when conditions are dry and there is no water.

The students were eager to start panning for gold and proceeded to the panning stations set up by DGD earlier that morning. Each student had their own panning station and selected a zip-lock bag containing dirt and black sand mixed with a small amount of gold.

The students anxiously emptied the zip-lock bags and began panning the pay dirt with the assistance of the DGD members. It did not take long before one excited student saw gold in his pan and shouted “I’m going to be rich!”

It was fun answering all the students’ questions and watching them as they cleaned up their gold—everyone was extremely careful to ensure they collected every single speck of gold in their pan!

The event was fun and educational and every student left with a small vial of gold as a reminder of their own Oregon Trail Adventure. The faculty expressed their appreciation and mentioned that they would like to see Desert Gold Diggers return again next year.

Halloween “Spooktacular”

Desert Gold Diggers participated in the Halloween “Spooktacular” on Friday, October 25, 2004. The event was held at the Ellie Community Center (ECC) and was sponsored by Pima County Parks and Recreation. The community center was chosen to provide a safe, family friendly environment for children to “trick or treat.”

Ralph Montañó, Becky Marihugh, and Joe Marihugh represented Desert Gold Diggers and dressed as miners in gold prospecting attire.

Approximately 200 children enjoyed the Halloween Spooktacular. The gold mine display that Joe Marihugh built was a big hit with the young trick or treaters.

The Canyon of Gold - Cañada del Oro

The search for gold in the Santa Catalina Mountains, north of Tucson, has generated stories of hidden riches embedded in the mountains, early Spanish mines, a lost city and a lost mission possibly near what was called the Cañon de Oro. The Spanish name—Cañon de Oro—means the “Canyon of Gold.” At different times, the creek was also called Canyon del Oro and Gold Canyon Creek.

This golden gulch sparked the Tucson gold rush in the mid-1850s and has been a consistent source of gold and mineral ore. As stories of gold discoveries started to spread, the Arizona gold rush period between 1860 and 1870 saw the population of the greater Tucson area increase more than three times from 915 residents in 1860 to 3,224 in 1870. The Tucson population more than doubled to 7,007 by 1880 and increased to 7,531 by 1900.

The land around the Cañada del Oro (CDO) was homesteaded by Mexican rancher Francisco Romero in the mid-1850s, followed by other settlers, including Pedro Charouleau and Mariano G. Samaniego. After rare summer and winter storms, the runoff flows out of the Santa Catalina Mountains from the North, runs past historic properties at the delta and turns to the South past ancient Indian ruins in the Catalina State Park. After the Cañada del Oro drains out the Santa Catalina Mountains, it empties into the Tucson Valley, eventually joining the Santa Cruz River near Tucson and Marana at the I-10 Interstate.

When it flowed regularly, it was a reliable source of life for both animals and humans and sightings of free flowing gold and other mineral veins stimulated most of the early American mining activity in this area. Mountain runoff still helps supply drinking water for northwest Tucson residents today.

The Cañada del Oro has long history of Indian aggressions and gold discoveries. This was the first area of the Santa Catalina Mountains reported to contain valuable minerals. Even before American settlers began to arrive in Southern Arizona in the mid-1850s, they read newspaper stories about the Canyon of Gold near Tucson. As the Mexicans and Spanish explorers before them, prospectors found free flowing gold along the river and embedded in quartz veins. The hostile Apache Indians would repel many of those efforts to prospect for gold or to even pass through the area. Yet, tales about a sealed off lost gold mine, an abandoned mission with a hidden cache of buried treasure, and naturally occurring gold deposits, still drove the bravest into the hills.

According to the legends, that mine, and the mission, may still be somewhere near the Cañada del Oro.

The preceding information was obtained from the following internet source:

Editor's Notes

It is hard to believe another year has almost passed. It seems like the older you get, the more quickly time passes by—at least it does for me. 2024 was a great year for Desert Gold Diggers and we look forward to an even better year in 2025. With everything that is happening, it will be interesting to see how long it takes for gold to reach $3,000 an ounce.

With the Christmas holidays right around the corner, I am hoping that club members make time to attend the annual DGD Christmas Party on Tuesday, December 3. Last year was the first time I attended the Christmas party and I am glad I did—there was a great turnout, everyone had a good time, and nobody left hungry! I hope to see you at this years party.

Desert Gold Diggers would like to wish everyone a happy Thanksgiving and a safe, happy, and joyous holiday season.
